is on them."
That pressure, Thursday, came to rest on Kevin Kripps and Steve Doty — North's respective starters in the double header. Neither made ouble header. Neither made past the fifth innings. Krips lasted until the fifth inning of the opener, giving up three of the Tigers' five runs. Edwardsville scored

"We've got to get better," Stegemeier said. "A lot of our guys needed work.
That's why we play these second games. We're still looking for people who can play defense and hit."

But in the second game, the problem was the same. The Steelers simply didn't score enough runs for starting pitcher boty, the ace of the North staff. 'Neither Doty or Faulkner are throwing as good as they they're supposed to be the best we've got."

best we've got."

Doty breezed through the first two innings of the nighteap, but the Tigers erupted for four of their five runs in the third Much of Doty's trouble was his own making as he wild-pitched the Tiger's Doug Johnson in from third and allowed Randy Hillard to reach safely when he mishandled a bunt attempt.

Hillard lags scorted on a Hillard later scored on a sacrifice fly before Bob McManus hit a two-run homer. Hillard drove home the Tigers' other run in the fourth when he singled home Larry Hall.

Again the Steelers had many more opportunities to score, only the key blow never came. Twice — in the second and fifth — North left the bases loaded, and two other times left two runners stranded. In all, the Steelers stranded 13-runners.

"To beat these people, you've got to have good pitching," Stegemeier said. "They didn't throw any no-hitters at us. We didn't sting the ball, and we left a lot of runners, but we weren't shut out either."

The restoration program in the downtown area became a reality with the organization of the NRS in February 1973 when 15 couples met to discuss plan for the downtown Grante City area and surrounding neighborhoods. First elected officers were walt Padgett, president; Mrs. Rogera Mefford, treasurer, and Mrs. Judy Padgett, historian.

Purpose of the society was limited budget that an older home could be modernized and improved without an exorbitant price for the decorating work.

To emphasize their projected plans for older homes the group sponsored the first home tour in 1974, arranged for an outfoor entertainment on the 24th Street parkway, between Cleveland Boulevard and Delmar Avenue.

What Is A Trust?

John Tallgren

Nature and Uses of a Land Trust

A Land Trust is a simple, convenient, inexpensive device for the holding of title to real estate.

the holding of little to real estate.

Why a Land Trust? Separation of the legal title to real estate from management and from all other benefits and responsibilities of ownership results in many administration of the holds title to real estate is regarded as personal property and does not include any legal interest in the real estate title. The Trustee is recognized as the exclusive owner of all of the interest in the legal title. From this concept flows the many benefits of the use of a Land Trust, some of which are the following:

- A beneficial interest arrange ment may provide for a de-signated succession of owner-ship without the necessity for probate following the death of a present beneficiary.
- Several individuals may join in the purchase of property, have the title vested solely in the Trustee, and hold frac-tional shares of the benefi-cial interest in their repect-ive names.

- Judgments against a bene-ficiary do not result in liens against the legal title; to reach the trust assets additional proceedings would be necess-ary.
- Changes or sales of interest the beneficiaries by assign-ments and without issuance or recording of any deeds.
- A mortgage may be signed by the Trustee secured by the trust property, and may ex-clude personal liability of the beneficiaries as well as of the Trustee.
- The beneficial interest in a Land Trust may be assigned as collateral for short-term loans and thus avoid formal mortgaging of the real estate.
- Forced sale of the property by one of several beneficiar-ies can be avoided by use of the Land Trust.
- · Where desired and proper, the identity of the beneficiary is not disclosed to the general public, except where required in the public interest.

What is a trust? We hope we've stripped some of the mystery from this not-so-simple question. If you should have additional questions, talk to your attorney and both of you are invited to visit us. We'll be glad to help.

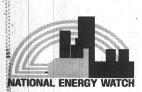

And please remember: These short articles are offered only as a non-technical guideline to the question of trusts. They are not intended to be used as legal advice. That is the job of your own attorney.

Robert Maxwell, a commer teacher and Robert Maxwell, a commer teacher and Granite City Steel's general supervisor of training and development, ran away from the field in the Community Unit School District Nine election.

With three capable incumbent board members seeking re-election, Maxwell's but the seeking re-election, Waxwell's with the seeking the seeking for the seeking the seeking for the capable incumbent board members seeking re-election, Maxwell's between terms were being won by George Moore and Donald Stucke.

Another factor may have been confusion resulting from the candidacy of Melton's brother, Larry, a critic of board policies who placed sixth among the eight candidates. Shool voting Saturday saw Earl Hogan defeated by John Mangiaracino, a former Venice alderman. But new terms were earned by three effective board members, Jack Tolliver, Wilbert Glasper and George Wade, the latter winning an unexpired term.
